<head> -TAG IN HTML

- The <head> element is an important for all the head elements.
- A <title> for the document, <scripts>, <styles>, <meta> information are included in <head> element.
- The <head> tag is the first child of an html document.
- <head> tag is belongs to heading content category.
- <head> tag will support the Global Attributes.

Syntax for <head> tag in HTML:

<head> statement</head>

Differences between HTML 4.01 and HTML5 for <head> tag in HTML:

HTML 4.0.1

- In HTML 4 head element is required.

HTML5

- In HTML 5 head element does not required. HTML 5 automatically generate the head tag.

Sample coding for <head> tag in HTML:

```html
<!DOCTYPE html>
<html>
  <head>
    <title> Wikitechy-headtag</title>
  </head>
  <body>
    Welcome to Wikitechy.com
  </body>
</html>
```

Code Explanation for <head> tag in HTML:

```html
<!DOCTYPE html>
<html>
    <head>  ──▶ ①
②◀── <title> Wikitechy-headtag</title>
    </head>
    <body>
        Welcome to Wikitechy.com ──▶ ③
    </body>
</html>
```

1. head tag - start with <head> and its end with </head>.
2. <title> - title tag defined inside the head tag with the name "Wikitechy-headtag".
3. Welcome to Wikitechy.com is content of the body tag.

Output of the <head> tag in HTML:

1. Here "Wikitechy-headtag" is the title of the HTML page is displayed in the output.

2. Welcome to Wikitechy.com is content of the page displayed in the output.

Browser Support for <head> tag in HTML:

Browser	Language attribute
Chrome	Yes
Internet explorer / Edge	Yes
Firefox	Yes
Safari	Yes
Opera	Yes